Prelude to change minds and mindsets

In this new century, a new human consciousness manifests itself. Of individuals knowledgeable in regards to our planetary evolution and human collective consciousness or mentality of the majority of people predict a change in the size of the planet, from the first half of the twenty-first century. This change is intimately linked to the impact of any individual on its surroundings and on the whole earth. Spiritual life is in full swing after the first quarter of the twenty-first century. However, to adapt to change, it is up to each of us to prepare the ground, in order to reduce the negative impact of the transition between the beliefs of our era and those of the new era begins. The old concepts will give way to new, but it remains that we must leave behind what is accepted as evident in today's society.

A large force is deployed right now on Earth. A brand new energy which aims to raise awareness of the new people, and mlm, is making its way into the hearts of humans. Indeed, if we are to meet the challenge of health and human survival, we will achieve a milestone in our spiritual evolution.

Caution

Not wanting the good of all, I note that the following text can be a bit overwhelming for some players. Because of the indifference of too many people to the movement promoting the preservation of the natural environment, it seemed important to use words that shake the conscience. It is important that all be vigilant.

Life and everything that is living matter (mineral, vegetable and animal) is filled with energy. Man is fragile living matter, and what we do sometimes to our body can lead to an energy imbalance. The body eventually recovers, but not always according to the original energetic order. This is why being centered, to have both feet on the ground, begins a more adequately balanced nervous system.

Therefore, modern life molds humans into fixed habits that keeps them distant from the essence of life and to take control requires above all the profound desire to change something in one's life. Discover our interior is the most natural thing there is and we are all faced at one time or another.. .to the consciousness of our body, emotions, everything that is our own identity, is in all of us. Understanding our interior self recovery provides benefits to the overall unity Body-Mind-Emotion. In order for us to evolve, grow naturally. Social consciousness has taken us from and away from our true self and it is important to find a controlled balanced energy, to demystify the role that life gives us. Therefore, let us choose to live the balance of universal energy that is within each of us and all that lives.

In humans, there is no good or bad energy. Only good energy or poorly directed. Energy is intelligent and its purpose is to maintain and regenerate life. When energy is flowing and that nothing impede its flow, all is good. But if it is slowed down or blocked, there is a problem, resulting in the start of discomfort, unpleasant sensations, which may even, in the long run, cause the disease.

Awakening towards a self exploration adventure is the positive result of the outbreak of the will to "know yourself" for a permanent energy balance. You are at the bottom of the ladder of your destiny, of your interiority. Experience life's best and keep in touch with who you are ... to evolve is using all our energy to be in harmony with life, with nature in all its forms.

Without this philosophy, the human race rushes and goes to ruin. We need only take a look at our planetary ecological situation (the greenhouse effect etc.) ... Never forget that since the appearance of life on earth, man is the one who always knew best to get out of the curse of destruction and decay. He knows he has to survive and improve their actions before the full uproar sets in. Man must unquestionably be "human" foremost and evolve besides.

It's hard to evolve naturally! We must change our bad habits. Sure, the will to succeed to climb the rungs of the evolutionary ladder one by one pushes us to work in order to acquire better habits necessary for our happiness. It is a personal adventure but yet inevitable for our well-being and that of the earth. You see, no matter who we are, each of us is responsible for his life and the means to move forward. Energy tamed, whether through any technique of self-exploration ignores race and color. It has no particular religious belief or preconceived ideas about everything that encompasses the human race. It has been said: "Know thyself." That's the key to our successful transition to the review of life: to strengthen our ego, our confidence and humanistic consciousness.

The tamed energy is the energetic balance (body-mind-emotion) in harmony ... All energetic techniques used to discover your inner being and will to move forward, or are there to make you a healthy and balanced person in all respects. I want you to recognize this tamed energy for life is a wonderful adventure ...

Be aware that any scientific discovery (Space Telescope, agricultural satellite, GPS, laser, etc ...) that enables a new way of seeing nature, or whatever else needs to be harmonized with the old concepts seem outdated for better balance. The ultimate science is Nature and Science is the ultimate Cosmic Intelligence ...

Obviously, keep the head above the clouds, to have a better overview of history (like the eagle symbol of evolution) and feet rooted in the ground (like the tree symbol Life) given to us. The twentieth century, with all its wonders is far from having invented everything and explained them. Everyone must find within himself the courage to open your eyes and look beyond their fears, reacting by these actions to the pure faith or established belief. If Einstein could glimpse into a world that no one suspected before him before, maybe other secret worlds await someone like you, humble enough to transmit them to mankind. You will do a useful social act. The best is coming! "Everything will work out," this is the message from above! The spiritual world!

Have you ever wanted to saw the bars and destroy the walls of your mesmerizing cultural prison imposed by society ? Have you had the desire to leave the wonderful secret within yourself - Serpent of Wisdom - bring your awareness to the confines of space and time?

The effect of pollution on ecology. The real situation www.homethemovie.org

In the year 2000 the United Nations asked the scientists what means they propose for the balance between man and nature come back and to stop the destruction by exploitation or pollution. The response of scientists was very clear: << The new way of doing is the old way >>.

Go and ask the indigenous (aboriginal of any nation) how their traditions have survived the scourge of five hundred years of domination by the white man? They'll say they were able to respect nature by not destroying it. This is the answer they gave to the same white man who asked how to remedy his error entrepreneur-exploiter and polluter?

In April 1994, a white buffalo was born in Jacksonville, Wisconsin USA. Being born white, for a bison, appears to be impossible, the fact is so rare and so extraordinary that was unique in history. Also, he was publicized by Indian elders. This animal of another color is symbol of the changes that lie ahead.

Hey! Yes! Indian in the world, persecuted, massacred disappeared in a proportion of 96% because Man wanted to occupy their territories. In the USA sixty millions of aboriginal people diminished to a poor only 800,000 souls. Yet they know the answer and are willing to save the planet from devastation by modern man, thanks to their traditional respect for nature. This is the case especially for the traditionalists. The planet is like a mother who bears all life; that is why everyone must respect it. We do not stop the exploitation of tropical rainforests, the oxygen supply to 50%. Yet there thousand acres of these forests destroyed each day, equivalent to three million hectares per year. This is nonsense. Also, what about our western boreal forest cut as lumber, construction and paper? And the disappearance of animals? More than a thousand species disappear every year. And what of commercial overfishing? Whales that wash up on the beach, because of magnetic field changes. At what is this killing for exploitation, slaughter causing the disorder in nature, pollution? As the human body consists of 80% water, this means that contaminate rivers, lakes and oceans is sign the extinction of the human being. This is what the American Indians and the Aborigenous elders violated for centuries, are willing to say.

Did you know that on April 22 of each year it is Earth Day. This date has been well defined in the global calendar. To remember this day and ask an action to save the environment, we should write on April 22 in relief on this calendar. This is undoubtedly very important. Indeed, the earth goddess, Gaia, is alive but sick, because she is attacked by a denatured whack. Gaia's life is our life. We are in danger of death. Man must respect life in all its forms (mineral, vegetable, animal). The smallest blade of grass door living life, and the largest tree also. The survival of humanity depends on respect for all life, and at the global level. Life on our planet is not guaranteed indefinitely, Whatever happens, each of the actions of every individual and every business is important to the environment. Everyone must do their part! Eliminate the process of destruction of the planet!

What to do? First, think holistically. This is to establish the harmony and balance between body-heart-brain. In short, practice love and compassion in life. Then we must act: recycle! Finally, intelligently evolve, so as to maintain people's health and to promote ecology. So future will be ensured across the majestic blue planet.

When will be the propulsion of motor vehicles with something other than oil this decay, fossil fuel? Await NASA and companies responsible for putting on the market a hydrogen fuel that would allow cars to produce as pure exhaust the air of the North American Rockies. Some predict it will be hydrogen. When? Ask those exploiting and mercantile companies, which expect the depletion of oil stocks, to lead us in this new and revolutionary era.

Plastics, especially those that are not recyclable, are here to stay for several more generations; they are petroleum-based, oil pushing countries to kill to get it. And soon, ethanol, derived from corn or sugarcane, is the fuel used by the industry and by the individual to his car. Did you know that the biggest polluters of air, apart from the industrial world, are the cars? There are 650 million motor vehicles currently in circulation on the earth. It is enormous! And China, who prized as the bicycle, now want cars! Don't you think we need to find ways that will produce more pollution, or almost, for less? Protect the environment! When will the electric car? This is coming soon! And solar electricity currently seems too costly to transform the consumer's daily transportation. However, Japanese and Quebecers have developed an electric car. Electric motor that can be replace motor oil and put in your old car... recycle! Wow!

Since the emergence of life on Earth, human intelligence has had to deal with all kinds of plagues. So every time, DNA, intelligent living matter which we are all the result has always triggered new connections in the human brain, to allow Human solve its problems and to access a new stage in its evolution. Indeed, the number of brain circuits accessible through our nervous system is counts as 8. It's step by step that man explores his 8 circuits of his brain and uses them to ensure their learning of his consciousness of the community. For example, he learns to walk before learning to write. Among the completed learning of man, we must mention the development. In this regard, the collective consciousness of humans has a positive impact on behavior, when humans learned to give importance to others; it quickly takes advantage of this opening to others. For example, he learned from others, he exchanges. What makes it new. So every time has its share of discoveries. It then comes as a revelation that excites and motivates human. There are people, and their number is growing, smart enough to have figured concern the future of humanity: love and compassion for others, the energy of the heart. Achieving this love and compassion and, consequently, changing minds will soon be a reality for all. It's just a matter of time. www.solar-revolution-movie.com

The grandest field to discover is space. Would it last within reach? Go for it, is not it? Gaïa is dying as oceans whales and the ozone layer decreases dangerously, bringing other problems on Earth. The icecaps also based. For example, we see that there is an increase in skin cancer and a warming of one degree Celsius per decade, instead of a degree Celsius per hundred years, as before the industrial era. However, the stratosphere around the planet will balance this problem in this century. Consequently, we must all adhere to the environmental protection, marketing through ecological networks. We have to make sure to avoid the giant tanker accidents that dump oil slicks in the sea, destroying the flora and fauna thousands of kilometers away. When will the bottom double-hull tankers for the life of killers? And what about the derailment of railway and those long freight trains full of chemicals? They are a mortal danger to the surrounding population and potential polluters manaçants, suddenly: the underground water layer.

Now that the nuclear arsenal begins to be reduced, will he serve only to protect us from that giant meteor heading towards our planet? This is his only ecological benefits, but the guard, as policy, territorial and ideological persuasion tool (eg.: the United States and North Korea for example). Hundred nuclear submarines rotting at the bottom of the Arctic Ocean now. What are governments doing?

Furthermore, nuclear waste deposited in supposedly sealed containers to radiation have long been downright thrown overboard in regular or lined barrels. And think of the multitude of tankers that spill on the road, because liquids which débalancent the center of gravity. These accidents leave to drain the oil harmful to the environment. Also think that nuclear power plants cracked, pipelines, perforated oil and gazéoducs of the former USSR? Finally, the authorities themselves carry all the medical waste in appropriate incinerators?

Despite this fact, there is a correction. While cities used systems "sewage and garbage properly, they would have certainly better control the impact of slag on the environment. When is the use of plants of Japanese gardens to filter contaminated water and make it drinkable without chemicals? Other actions should be taken. Today, we recycled pulp and paper, glass, plastic, metal, as well as the electronic parts. Hydroelectric megaprojects, left without antiterrorist surveillance, drowning the wild lands produce nitrogen and methane in the air, are causes of pollution. We like to say, to the four winds that Quebec produces clean energy. What aberration! When will the proliferation of wind farms? Recycle are we the roads of Quebec, who are in such poor condition? Why not with old recycled tires mixed with asphalt? They serve to something useful, instead of rotting in municipal dumps. The budget for roads, for twenty years, has enabled the political party of the time, to promote their ideals and their brainwashing. The current state of the roads like a postwar. Thinking green or die! The future of man is here!

As we have already said, the next step is announced, it is space. No one can doubt the potential it offers today to study the planet, to find ways to survive. Steven Hawking, the astrolobiologist reached sclerosis says << humanity is so attached to technology that will self-destruct, extinction of humanity towards the year 2,045. See www.tinyurl.com/shendworld

The future of humanity

Assuming that the universe is filled with hundreds or even thousands of inhabited planets with different intelligent life forms, is to hope we reach these life forms to communicate and live all together in love and universal peace? Yes! However, too many people are afraid of these visitors from space, because they know our destiny. In due time, if we take care of the environment, they will ensure our survival. Only then they will intervene at our request, because we require to show them that we care for the earth.

We will cross a big step and perhaps, if time allows (depending of course on the state of our planet), save the planet, or even access to outer space. This will prove that life on earth has earned our respect and can be perpetuated. If we are taking action increasingly ecological and safe for us (our health) and the environment, our closest neighbor will benefit. Do not forget that we might suffocate in our own human folly.

Does this mean that if the planet continues to deteriorate because of the stupidity of men, the only solution will be to gather all the scientific knowledge? That he wants to say, therefore, that only astronauts and wealthier people manage to qualify to colonize space? These are not the words in the air. The space colonies will perhaps emerge faster than we had planned them. I believe that living in space is the only inevitable solution for the survival of the human species.

We know that a star like our sun has a service life of at least five billion years. Our solar star survived for about four and a half billion years. That leaves him five hundred thousand years before it becomes a red giant and super nova. So it will explode resulting in his race our planet. No doubt that before this to happen, a planet to the sun, younger and likely to make life possible in order to ensure the survival of the human species is discovered.

Humanity is doomed to leave his current nest. What generation, in a not too distant future, maybe in one hundred years, will experience this fabulous adventure? Time is our best asset for now, but the balance between man and his natural environment should be sought at all costs. But we must do our part to improve the environment. Men, because of their toxic household products to consumer, small and medium enterprises and multinationals, because they pollute much, must act to keep our environment healthy. Hazardous waste and recycling, all that, we must take care! Only 17% of household waste is recycled. Consider the preservation of the environment and we will see the result: human survival and long-term planetary for generations. Let's be careful about the choices available to us! Nature, Gaïa and science have always given good advice to those who can hear them, use them wisely. Operate as humanely as possible respecting life for what it really is: fragile and intelligent. Use of surfactant products tension-active biodegradable. Pick up a piece of wooded land, to make the transition ages announced for 2012-2017, which will last about three months, while the new planetary vibration will settle and, perhaps, the outcry will settle in cities, ignorant and gullible to the Apocalypse religions believe that this is the end of the world. In fact it will be the end of one world and the birth of a new one. This is what many authors call the transition of ages announcement thousand years of peace on earth. Hurry up! Open your heart! www.heartmath.org

Our role on good old planet earth is to ensure universal harmony. Never forget to keep healthy, our planet. The human being (man, woman, child) bonus on all environmental and technological change. Respect nature. And what is more, in these modern times and decisive for human and spiritual evolution, will store the earth, because we are all born to Gaïa, our Mother Earth at all. It remains for us only fifty years, according to environmentalists, to initiate the necessary turn. Otherwise, it's the end of the human race : Lack of drinking water and food at the global level. The colonization of space is the only intelligent solution to our survival. What happens to the Kyoto agreement and protocol abatement of greenhouse gases? Hand holding one possesses, in exchange, credits on international carbon action.

SETI (Search for Extra-terrestrial Intelligence)

Search for alien life

On 12 October 1992, NASA (National Association space agencies) speculated Carl Sagan astrobiologist, according to which, 10,000 years of modern history, we had a visit from extraterrestrials at least once . Also, NASA began a research program with two giant radio telescope in Green Bank, USA, on the extra-terrestre life on other planets in order to capture radio waves from other solar systems that might reveal the existence of other intelligent life similar to ours or different. The reason is that the world Scientific, given the vastness of the universe awakens and does not believe us being the only inhabitants. Over 1000 radio telescopes are directed to the stars now.

When Charles Lindbergh performed his legendary flight, his assumption was that he was able to reach Paris, crossing the Atlantic Ocean, nonstop. The main hypothesis of the US space research is to prove that man can reach cosmic space continuously at will. What is the reason for the importance of the space exploration? This is the current overpopulation of the earth. Indeed, the overpopulation of our planet lay in a few centuries an insoluble problem. From 1950 to 2016, it increased from 2 billion to 7 and a half billion people. According to statisticians, the world population will reach 8.7 billion people by 2050, which means that there will be 335 people per square kilometer. According to NASA, then threaten hunger worldwide. We must not forget that if this happens, it will take the consequences.

Here the gospel *. It says: << Eat only when the sun is at its highest point in the sky and a second time when he is lying. So you will never see disease, because those conducting the kind found favor in the eyes of the Lord. And if you want the angels of God rejoice in your body and Satan fled far from you, in this case, do not take up once a day to the table of God. >>

The Japanese say :

<< Rice is Buddha. >> Dieticians advise us, anyway, taking three meals a day, but you have to eat every day.

<< Darkness and light are both of the same nature; the difference is only apparent, because each is born of the source of all. >> --- Extract from the tables Emerald of Thoth. ---

* SZÉKELY, EDMOND "Ancient Aramaic texts and Slavonic, Lauzanne, Editions Pierre Guémillard 1975, 170 p.

We believe that men will settle one day on a planet like Mars and they will adapt to the climatic and physical conditions of this planet, in the same way that the Eskimos would adapt to the climate of the Egypt, if the transplanted there. The greatest quality of man is his ability to adapt to all life situations. One day, gigantic spaceships will shuttle between planets where we and our children of our children. New planets are conquered or welcome us as were in the past, America and Australia. This is the objective of space research: to offer future generations a chance of survival. Or lose interest in the conquest of space is to condemn future generations to perish of hunger.

Here is the Drake equation by which NASA is based, supports its claims to prove its case: only our galaxy, the Milky Way, will host 10 000 advanced extraterrestrial civilizations. Would they have something of supreme importance to us? According galactic law, these civilizations can not interfere with us, without our consent.

Searches are not esoteric research relating only savvy specialists. For example, explorations on Mars. Those who feel they have no responsibility in relation to humanity can not ignore that it is through research that they have not had to undergo a third world war. Indeed, is it not the fear of total destruction that prevents the major powers to decide, by a nuclear war, the material and ideological differences between them.

We often hear that we should invest in developing countries billions who go to space research. This view is highly questionable. Obviously, the working masses of the Third World has already become the slave of multinationals. This is because poor countries seeking to industrialize and reach the Western lifestyle, comfortable.

A myriad of beautiful human experiences await healthy and evolved people (or tending to become one), over their present life. I can here reveal what awaits them, because, honestly, I have no idea. It is personal to each of us. Let's say we will save and save the planet. Everything will work out, this is the message that all optimistic researchers spread. This is an anti-stress message excellence that I share with you. The key is unconditional and universal love for all level of life.

The destruction of the planet is a matter of life or death, do you think that intelligent humans who value life will remain there idly and let go the situation worse survival level that one might imagine ? No! However, everyone must participate in this awareness, this change in mentality. And, above all, take action! www.thepoweroftheheart.com

Meanwhile, the last trip of the Atlantis space shuttle was aim to build and put into orbit around the earth, the first permanent orbital station called Freedom project. It is expected that the next station house more than a year of human beings, so they can perform ecological studies, planetary and space science research. Several countries already participating.

Networks marketing companies

Ordinary companies have only one goal, at all costs, they only seek profit at the expense of the Earth. Consequently, they have no moral or social or ecological, as those who profit of $ 100 million and tax havens which amount to billions. In contrast, companies that market their products through a network of collaborators first have humanitarian and ecological concerns. There is currently a large number of trading companies doing business through direct contact with people and with the Internet. It is important that all people develop a penetrating collective conscience to save the planet. However, the development of a collective consciousness depends on a psychological change and people's lifestyles, which requires a change of mentality. That is why Men from Earth, polluters and multinationals exploiting the Third World must, as soon as possible, mercantile change their behavior. Worldwide, approximately 37,000 multinationals own the third of depriving him of the planet. Hence a turnover of $ 5.5 trillion to $ 5 million billion, despite the fact that they must take account of 500 national laws or different states. Fortunately, more and more companies, a small percentage, however, have the following major concerns: health and the environment. Regarding home base business that operate via a network of collaborators, the requirements are less large. This is why network marketing is the best means to do home business today. Some say that it will become the future of all people wanting to achieve financial independence. However, their owners must take into account in their policies, ecological data and respect the environment. It is more acceptable to increase revenues in peace, when the products are sold are environmentally friendly.

Currently, all those that are marketing through a network of collaborators network, selling environmentally friendly products. They establish a network of relationships (parents, family, friends, labor relations or cold contacts, social media recruiting) part time, according to their convenience or full time if they really want when their incomes triple the salary of their employment, for those who have one. Ordinary people, professionals and people from all backgrounds and all nationalities are drawn to it because of the lever principle of this kind of legitimate trade. Regular and constant action, either ten or twenty hours a week, is enough to have long-term good income, say after six or ten months. Gradually, the business continues to grow, creating a snowball effect because, in the network, others are determined to do the same, while others (consumers) are always looking for quality products and the cheapest services. There is room for everyone in this kind of marketing through networks. Everything depends on the dreams and aspirations of those who practice it .

Here is what the principle of leverage

This principle can, if present roughly be summarized in saying that you recruit more people who agree to sell your product to others who agree, too, to proceed in the same way, the more you get rich .

Suppose, as an individual, you buy up to $ 100 per month of a product, which appears, according to the product, be very little money, considering total spending an employee middle income can make in a month. Certainly you are not alone in this situation.

Therefore, if one day you decide to sell this product to those who are interested in it as much as you and who will, in turn, recruit other potential buyers, in the same conditions you will have formed a network that will provide leverage for your business and for those people who work with you. Here's a more specific example: If you recruit six people, they are recruiting, in turn, six others, who recruit six other people, etc., after a year, you will have accumulated, part-time, a income of nearly $ 100,000 and you will oversee a network of nearly 1 000 employees who will sell each, up to $ 100 per month. That is the principle of the leverage. It is a principle based on mutual assistance and cooperation that I would designate as the altruistic collaboration.

Profit distribution

If I asked you: << Who do you share in the profits of a traditional trade >> You probably would answer without hesitation:. The owner of the business, however, in the case of cosmetics, the answer should be: the factory owner, the carrier, the owner of the warehouse and the store. Indeed, the benefits are often shared with someone else, namely the owner of the sales office or an exclusive sales agent who handles market for a given product. All these gross profits is the first component of the selling price of a cream, a lipstick or a store-bought soap. The second component is the cost of distribution. This includes storage fees, employee salaries, rent, depreciation, unsold items, flight, tops the list with the cost of advertising. These two components, it is called overhead.

If the head of a trade eliminates the majority of the links in the distribution chain, it reduces costs to a minimum. This is what occurs with the marketing networks. It is obviously impossible to eliminate all costs. One can not make or transport or storage in different regional distribution centers, or a minimum of administrative costs. However, eliminating the middlemen, the owners of these businesses will save about 60% to 70% of the product sales price. Distributors take on their responsibility to buy and demonstrate the products, advertise, sell and recruit other distributors in the network they have created or joined. Thus they participate to save money as established by the company.

A portion of the profits distributor is included in the price of the products they buy from this company. This price is lower than 20% to 30% of the proposed sale price. So one component of his income is savings (when purchasing the product for personal use) or profit from the resale .

The second component of the distributor's profit, and perhaps most important, is the premium revenue in each network. This premium is calculated not only on its own turnover, but also on the network he created . This network consists of other distributors, which operate under the same legal code of ethics and are partners together.

Every distributor is an independent and autonomous trade. In network marketing, there is no supervisor or employee or manager to coach you. You are your own boss. Each member of the network receive the same benefits: a head office with its products, its marketing plan, its support system, education and security. The members all start at the same level. Which requires a minimum investment, no experience, no special knowledge. So everyone has the same chance to win as much money as it can. Revenues generated by the marketing networks (MMN *) are limitless, as well as territory or working hours. These are the distributors themselves that set their limits. Besides the two mentioned sources of income for distributors, there are other bonuses and rewards. Each company establishes within its particular system. **

* (Janusz Szajna, "The network marketing", a lifestyle editions A Different World, 1998
168P.

A business enterprise networks is the ideal company because it can be enriched gradually, without much regard to some major tasks that are the responsibility of the head office. It's easy as pie, but simply has never been synonymous easy. However, to think of it, the easy things they really value? No! is not it?

First, there must be agreement on defining the ideal trade. Here are eleven criteria I would use to clearly define this trade. You can use this list to evaluate your profession or business in which you are working. You can use it as a base reference for comparing two kinds of business.

1. The ideal company serves not only his neighborhood, his city, but the entire world . In other words, it has a huge market.
2. The product of the ideal company enjoys steady demand , because it meets a need and necessary daily and sold, regardless of price.
3. The "ideal business requires a workforce reduced to a minimum.
4. The ideal business sells a product that meets a continuing need . It is therefore not a product sparking a fad for which alternatives exist or where we can even do without.
5. The ideal business has very little overhead : its needs in buildings, electricity, advertising and legal fees are limited.
6. The ideal company manufactures a product difficult to imitate or reproduce. The product is original (as published); it requires a very particular expertise. Also, it is protected under copyright, patent or guarantee unconditionally.

7. The ideal business does not paralyze your capital in exaggerated capital goods.
8. The ideal company transacts spot : its funds are not stuck due to long credit periods.
9. The ideal business is pretty nearly free of any form of regulation or government other.
10. The ideal business can easily be implemented everywhere .
11. The ideal business is one in which one deploys all his intellectual energy (and often emotional). * Here are two facts that are often encountered. First, explain the ideal company to be limited without purpose in life, without dreams to achieve, because it can be repulsive to any new idea. Then someone interested in the possibility of achieving his goals in life, (credit card debt, car payments, mortgage payments, employment) and marvel at the surprising and positive results of some builders companies in your network. There is room for all.

How to get rich quick!

According to Mr. Szajna, here is how one can earn $ 75,000 a year, working only three to four hours per week. Several networks of distributors earn over $ 75,000 per month or per week. And it's not working three to four hours per week they got there. A person who would promise you such income, simply by enrolling in this trade and by throwing a glance time to time, certainly not trustworthy. The network marketing is a real business, and you have to work to make progress. Several years of serious efforts in developing your network will give you the results described above. This is unthinkable in the beginning. A distributor, who invests little time in his case, little harvest also.

We are told that 50% to 65% of goods and services will soon be distributed by companies for marketing networks in the new century. Then join a business network, mine or that of another, and there abide faithful. This is the best way to increase your income and create jobs in your region, your country, because all those who are part of your network are self-employed. As such, they benefit from tax credits like any business. You may even consider the globalization of your ecological network marketing business.

Why get involved?

We must think and act ecologically. Think "green".

Since we can no longer rely solely on our governments to create jobs, we need to find out how. In this regard, there is a wealth of information in libraries. Do not just dream about your business, melt it. Do not leave to chance as if it were a lottery. In gambling, there is a chance in 55 million of winning the jackpot. This is insane. Why the government does place slot machines in deprived areas? This is because it is the poor poor neighborhoods who are most interested in playing these games. This is also because they hope to improve their spells, but they become pathological gamblers. So they easily bite the hook of the game. The elderly are no exception to this craze for these slots. Indeed, to escape poverty, slot machines are for them an easy and effective way. Unfortunately, they are deceiving and quickly become compulsive and unhealthy players. The rational solution is marketing through networks! Network Marketing is a modern financial and feasible solution to that in the trouble. Great will be your joy, and you will experience great satisfaction, I am sure, if you will take the basics. Singles like single parents or reconstructed, still growing, are very often attracted to this form of business, mainly to supplement their purposes, especially because they allow to receive additional income. What is reassuring. Others are interested to acquire more free time with family and to enjoy more of life and liberty.

However, make sure that your future business to be environmentally friendly. The Earth is life, and it responds to insults made to it by natural disasters such as hurricanes, tornadoes, floods, volcanic eruptions and earthquakes. She returns to balance in this way, the underground magma: Do recent events in Southeast Asia- tsunami. We thank you to the elements. By our daily actions, we all participate, not without positive action means, global ecology balance. It is a fact that greed seems the most widespread on the planet. Succeed and become increasingly rich is the modus operandi of a handful of individuals from rich countries that benefit from the free enterprise system. A good majority of capitalists do not account for the impact they have on the environment. They do not care royally. They say: << Caution! We work hard to achieve success, they argue >> if you do them in the note. Yes, but their children will suffer the consequences of destruction of the environment. What will be the price? This will be the increase in diseases, viruses, and death in the short term for many people. The commercial overfishing will wipe the benches of fish in less than sixty years there will be no more fish in the seas world !!! irresponsible people in this area should be severely punished by governments. Indeed, it is the politicians have the task to reprimand these actions through legislation and higher financial compensation. Who knows? The prison will serve, perhaps, as has sometimes been the case, to ensure harmony of ecosystems! Polluting companies should be responsible and repair their damage. Obviously, few multinationals show some ecological interest. However, those considering starting a business, running through networks must constantly bear in mind that constant use of the car pollutes the environment. Think green. Now everything can be done via the Internet. The involvement of everyone, perseverance in action and honesty are the three keys to success in any personal business or team. To want is to can! To succeed, we must motivate. Instead wash its hands are moving. Find everyone, at home, at work means not to pollute. Act ecologically, I would never say it enough: Ecology begins at home!

When we reflect on the continuity of life, one wonders if the human species is not made in a dead-end road, due to destruction of the environment. Humanity would it be restored to the limit of what is allowed? I do not believe that. There is still hope! But for how many more years? According to Hubert Reeves, astrophysicist, << there is urgency to act because many misdeeds are already irreparable. >>

What book are you reading does not contain misleading nonsense. This is an essential guide for you to read it in a period of economic recession (ex.: "BREXIT" global effects, results) or in a moment of strong growth, suggest ways of acting that could pique your intellectual curiosity and interest in the business, while respecting essential values for the survival of humanity. That is why we need to buy in order to save the environment. For example, that you obtain your products from domestic or industrial maintenance on the shelves in a traditional store or via the Internet, with a network marketing company by the surfactants tension-active biodegradable products should be your preference to our ecology.

Ideally, to promote economy, governments should be stable and should adopt policies favorable to the environment and fair for all. In this way, the local and foreign investors would be reassured and might hope to profit from their investments, while being obliged to respect the people's living environment. Any business creation creates jobs and also benefits the citizens concerned. This would ensure that a majority of the working population participate in improving the economy.

Today, according to statistics, the rich get richer and the poor get poorer. What are governments doing? They adopt policies that reduce the number of middle class (incomes between $ 50,000 and $ 100,000 per year). As a result, the quality of life of the middle class is diminished and freedom, in turn, is thereby restricted. It is necessary that governments provide the rich, gradually take their environmental responsibilities and be respectful of human beings, wherever they decide to invest. For some people, perhaps millions of people worldwide, network marketing " network marketing " is the solution. But beware! We must not delude ourselves. If you have money, you can make money, it is well known. However, to succeed, we must act. In other words, you always have a chance to get away, even with low incomes. The status quo has no future. It's stagnation. Cooperation and affiliation and the unselfish collaboration are the forces that create prosperity. Moreover, this type of marketing is based on this principle, hence its growing international popularity. Indeed, it favors all classes of modern society in more than 70 countries and territories. Basically, you will succeed to the extent that you help people succeed around you. Build a team of winners. Make money, doing make money for those who are part of your network. Because more and more people apply this principle honest, we can expect the number of people belonging to the middle class will increase.

After thirty years of legal wrangling, the governments, which advocate individual freedom, legalized marketing networks (MLM). And with good reason! Of course, according to Richard Wright, Professor of Finance and International Business from McGill University in Montreal, he argues that the network marketing is becoming more and more space. According to him :

<< Individuals and companies worldwide will see the usefulness of this type of marketing if they want to succeed not only in business but simply survive. This is the concept for future years. >>

The comments above remind me of a reality that has not changed: the rich get richer at the expense of the poor. There is nothing new under the sun, except the extraordinary marketing networks. Indeed, in this kind of business, every entrepreneur is rewarded his efforts. Warning! This type of trade is not pyramidal, because anyone can obtain higher incomes than people in front of him. This is what makes the legitimate and wonderful thing. The experience of the author will be convinced of the truth of the proverb: << The man reaps what he has sown >>. This is true for health than for business. According to its first actions, any new trader will cause pollution healthy environments or maintain the balance of ecosystems. Similarly, it will borrow and will gradually accumulate bankruptcy or commercial success. In life, you can become sick because of heredity. It can also become, adopting unhealthy lifestyles. It's the same in business. Natural dispositions can have to be successful, but it is, in contrast, have no such qualities, and by conséquent fail. However, when someone is gifted for business, it may fail by taking bad administrative habits. Of course, good habits must be taken very early in life, if we want to live healthy and drill as Pierre-Karl Péladeau (Québecor) or Donald Trump (USA). However, rest assured that no matter your age, it's never too late to start right thing.

Ideally, when a country is prosperous, it is safe for anyone to start a business. However, when a country is experiencing political interference, especially military, it lost investor confidence.

Despite this, those who decide to start a business venture by networks are provided, in principle, to overcome the obstacles that come more easily. Indeed, the very principle of such trade that any founder of this kind of business does not act alone. It is supported by all those who are part of its network and also have at heart the success of their business. Unity is strength.

Provide today is a vital need for mankind. Without this clarification, we would unlikely to guard against the uncertainties of the future, of course. To govern is to foresee. But governments and major industries can not do without, at present, services futurists. Namely the consequences that predict the action of man on his environment. Governments need to plan today for tomorrow. Larger companies, too, must program their investments for decades in advance. This is the case of every individual who wants to ensure success. He must think not only to his person, his ego, but to his family. He must think about his financial success. It must evolve in all areas to be ready for any change. It must prepare to participate in ensuring the right time to the inevitable competition in the business world. To achieve this, the affordable and equitable solution is marketing through networks. And health in all this?

Today it is unthinkable to carry out a business venture if we do not have good health. This is true for all trades, including food. California has a reputation that is second to none in regard to innovations. Let's just take ethics "granola" and the popularity of vegetarian restaurants. It is in this place began the movement for the safeguarding of human potential is -to- say all disciplines offering to successfully grow the awakening of greater responsibility for individual vis-à-vis himself and his health. This is especially true as the "baby boomers" are coming. Faced with this reality, only in Canada, an estimated ten times more operations for hip fracture in a not so distant future, from 10,000 to 100,000 operations. But hospitals already are struggling to heal first. What will happen when children from the cradle of the 60 going to surface in the emergency rooms of hospitals? Today, the health industry and the welfare amounts to more than $ 200 billion, only for the "baby boomers", it offers a gold mine that wants a piece of a TRILLION $, in ten years, the experts argue. Meanwhile, here is a council of friend: Rely on your inner radar; it is never wrong, because the future belongs to those who take care of their health as those who believe in them and who make things happen in their lives. Do you know that we are the architects of our welfare and our evolution in all areas?*

Secrets of a global health

A healthy diet and regular moderate exercise make sure we make an appropriate physical comfort while staying alert face the hectic pace of modern life. At the current rate things are going, we could say that the pace of modern life has increased 25%. For those who take care of their physical and mental health through healthy eating and regular exercise, they have better control over time. Hence awareness of their health and time available to do it right.

In summary, this is simply:

1. to exercise regularly and learn to rest.
2. eating healthy foods every day. Daily, eat organic foods and natural supplements of vitamins and minerals. It is important that these supplements are not synthetic because they are stressing the cells and the body rejects them.
3. to have a joyful and spiritual approach to life.
4. to maintain a daily personal hygiene and take care of the person receiving body massages periodically. Courses on line Quantum-Touch, How to Heal at : www.tinyurl.com/apprends
Consuming household products non-hazardous and environmentally friendly for you and your children, and for the Earth.
5. undergo regular annual medical examination. This visit is an assurance to maintain his health.

*"Let your food be your medicine and your medicine your food."
-Hippocrate (Father of medicine)*

'In the heart of the children of eternity lives the seed planted that everyone has for himself long ago. It is a true gift that sleeps. Awakened, this seed rekindles the ancient promise of those who came before us. The promise that every soul will survive the 'darkest' times of life, to return home, intact and with grace. This promise is the seed of truth that we now have called compassion .' - --- Gregg Braden

Together, as we are, we will save the planet! Human evolution will be smooth. According to some authors, it would already begun. Whether in the years 2007, 2012, 2017, 2025, 2045..., there will always be an important event that we suggest that today, here and now we must act. By our daily actions, our conscience with regard to ecology and our spiritual or human progress, assured by love and compassion for all life, we will ensure to us and to future generations, freedom we affirm and live, while allowing us to realize our basic right to protect the Earth. It is this our real mother. Life, désoxoribo-nucleic acid (DNA), is only passing on this Earth. While it is true that in 500 million years the sun will break out, the mission of Man will then be artisans and witness a return to balance and respect for the environment. If man fulfills its mission, humanity will survive. We will live new friendly contacts with other advanced civilizations or accessible. This will depend on the collective consciousness present, love and compassion of the people for others, virtues so little practiced in this era of time and great joy.

Exhortation

Player, it's time to put your abilities to the service of something. Your tasks are large and require you implement all your strength. If you give yourself the trouble to act, what you sow, you reap a profit.

When you will act if the work that you must provide to you seems too big, always concentrate yourself on the positive results it will have for you and for others, and this, to be aware of your learning process and to ensure your inner transformation.

A little bit of me

My debut as author date from 1982 with my first book Massage For All, which sold more than 10,000 exemplaires in French and translated into English and Italian.

Since. ORTF Radio France was kind enough to interview me with the participation of Marcello Chiochio, a radio presenter, well known at the time. Four-seasons television also made me look at one of his shows, Hello TQS in 1989 ..

With my work, I managed to make myself known, worldwide accounting and book sales amounted to more than two hundred thousand copies. One could definitely classify these books in Quebec, as bestsellers.

From 1988 to 2011, I was working full-time in a hospital. However, my concern for the preservation of health, prevention and treatment of diseases is enco oldest re. This already made 35 years I worked in the field of alternative medicine, natural and soft. Massage Therapist and author, I worked with dance companies and theater members in various sports centers, medical center and a Spa Centre Avanti. I also gave to university courses on massage. I was recorded as early as 1990 in the international esoteric encyclopedia . Some tv's interviews from 1982-2016.
